Study Questions:

Short questions

1 Do all students learn the same way? Yes or No

2 A learning style is the more or less consistent way in which a person perceives, conceptualizes, organizes and remembers information. True or False

3 A suffix is a word at the beginning of a root word. True or False

4 A prefix is a word at the beginning of a root word. True or False

5 There are different methods of note-taking. True or False

6 Using the Cornell method and 3Rs helps improve long-term memory. True or False
Answer: true

7 It is important to try and write down every word someone is saying when taking notes. True or False

8 I can review my notes once a week before the test and have the best chance of remembering. True or False.

9 Organizing notes can aid in remembering information. True or False

10 Reading and acknowledging opposing views exist means you must agree with them. True or False.

11 Is it okay to occasionally go outside the subject area to reinforce your argument? True or False.

12 Focus on the major points and key arguments. Write down words or phrases that are bold, italicized, list, or repeated. True or False.

13 Wikipedia pages, that can be altered by anyone, are credible sources. True or False

14 An academic journal with articles that are backed up with evidence is credible source. True or False

15 If my source is credible, do I need to cite the source in my writing? Yes or No

16 Creating an outline is not part of the first step of the writing process. True or False

17 I need to create my outline after my rough draft. True or False

18 My rough draft needs to be separated into paragraphs. True or False

19 When I write my final draft, I need to include all the corrections that I made. True or False

20 Do you have to use the writing process to write a book? Yes or No

21 During the editing step you don't have to worry about grammatical errors. True or False

22 During the pre-writing step you do brainstorming, questioning and publishing. True or False

23 The brainstorm is part of the second step. True or False

24 In the pre-writing stage, you write down all your ideas. True or False

25 In the pre-writing stage, there should be no errors. It must be perfect. True or False

Long Questions

1. Explain the term cognitive skills
2. Explain what is meant by meta-cognition in your own words.
3. Why are learning styles important?
4. What is your learning style?
5. What are compound words?
6. What are homophones (define)?
7. What are context clues?
8. What is scanning?
9. What is skimming?
10. Explain what SQ3R method stands for?
11. What is a topic sentence?
12. What is annotating?
13. Why do we take notes?
14. List the 3Rs in order
15. What information should go into your notes?
16. What is plagiarism?
17. What should you do if you want to write down exact words from a source?
18. What is paraphrasing?
19. What is an argument?
20. What are the key points you feel you have learned in relation to academic arguments? Be as descriptive as you like.
21. What is the first step of the writing process?
22. Why is pre-writing important?
23. Name the part of the writing process you are in when you are writing a beginning, middle, and end in complete sentences?
24. Why is drafting (step 2, also known as the writing step) important?

25. In your own words, what are the pre-writing and drafting parts of the writing process?
26. What is a personal narrative?
27. Explain the editing process?
28. What are the different stages of writing? Please list it in the correct order.
29. What is the difference between revising and editing?
30. What questions do you have to keep in mind when revising your writing? (List at least 3 questions)
31. What type of note-taking method do you use when writing your first draft?
32. At what step do you start writing your introduction and conclusion?
33. Read the passage and summarize it in your own words.
    Please use one note-taking method (that you learned in class) to show how you summarized the text. Then summarize the text in your own words:

    Roald Dahl was born in the United Kingdom, but he spent his childhood summers with his grandparents in Norway. Roald was always busy and energetic, and often ended up in trouble. One of his earliest memories is speeding to school on his tricycle while his sisters struggled to keep up with him. His ability to find trouble made his early school years difficult. He left his first school after putting a dead mouse in a storekeeper's candy jar, a prank that led to him being beaten by his school principal. From there he went to boarding school and then to an excellent private school, but Dahl described his school years as being full of "horrors" as a result of the "rules, rules rules" and the stories he wrote later in life reflect all the darkness he felt during this time. Roald was not a very good student. Nonetheless, his mother wanted to send him to college. But Roald refused to do. In a book he wrote about his childhood called Boy: Tales of Childhood, he says he told his mother, "No, thank you. I want to go straight from school to work for a company that will send me to wonderful faraway places like Africa or China." He had had enough of school, and he could not wait to set out on a life of adventure.

34. In each paragraph below, underline the topic sentence:

    a. No one likes to eat with a dirty knife, fork, or spoon. It is important to completely wash all utensils before using them. Clean utensils won't transmit germs and bacteria. They also are more pleasant to eat with.

    b. Sometimes it is hard to fall asleep. Maybe you are not sleepy, or maybe you are thinking about what happened during the day. You can also lie awake if a big event, like a test or a party, is happening the next day. There are several things you can do to try and fall asleep. You can try counting sheep, or just counting, which will keep your mind busy with a repetitious activity. Sometimes listening to soft music or gentle sounds, like rain, helps. You can even try telling yourself a story, which may distract your mind enough that you will be asleep in no time.